OutBack Power Announces Approvals of FX series Inverter/Charger System in New York State

Arlington, WA USA – January 12, 2005

New York Public Service Commission Approves OutBack Power FX Series of Inverter/Charger for Inclusion on Key State Listing

OutBack Power Systems, a leader in renewable energy power conversion systems, announced that its FX series of inverter/charger system has been added to approved inverter list for New York State, one of the more important solar markets in the United States.

The New York Public Service Commission (NYPSC) added the FX series to its Type Tested and Approved Equipment list, which means the following OutBack FX series models are now approved for interconnection to the utility grid in that state.

GTFX2524 (2500W 24VDC 120VAC 60HZ Sealed Construction)
GTFX3048 (3000W 48VDC 120VAC 60HZ Sealed Construction)
GVFX3524 (3500W 24VDC 120VAC 60HZ Vented Construction)
GVFX3648 (3600W 48VDC 120VAC 60HZ Vented Construction)

Information on NYPSC's Type Tested and Approved Equipment is available at <http://www.dps.state.ny.us/SIRDevices.PDF>

The OutBack FX series inverter/charger system is designed for use in grid-connected solar, wind and/or hydro power applications. The FX series addresses the needs of customers who have concerns about the stability and reliability of the electrical grid. The OutBack FX series immediately converts to an independent battery backup mode when the grid fails, continuing to provide power to critical loads such as refrigeration, lights and communication systems for your home or office.
